citizens regarding this mysterious and momentous incident.

The beautiful little dipper, new sitting so gracefully on the calm surface of the Gulf of Mexico, left New York some time ago, under rather suspicious incumstances. Her character and destiny gave rise to a good deal of speculation, surmise, and suspicion. Her cargo of "sorted hardware," and the last of her being owned by that dangerous filibuster and dealer in revolutionary hardware, George Law, the captain being a second Paul Jones in deeds of desperate daring, contributed to increase the popular distrust relative to the Grapeshot's lawful character and intents. Under these singular circumstances, the Grapeshot suddenly shot out of New York, between two days, and with the wings of the wind, soon got beyond the reach of scrutiny or curiosity. Now, it happened that about the same time another fast clipper, bearing the name of the Flying Soud, left the port of New York for Liverpoel, the captain of which was a cousin of the ferce skipper of the Grapeshot, and, like all Yankee captains generally, and particularly those of fast clippers, much addicted to the Yankee vice of heaxing poor, innocent, unsuspecting and rather stoild Joan Bull. We do not pretend to trace all the links of our story distinctly, but confert ourselves with reneralities. Suffice it to and particularly those of leax dispers, much addicted to the Yankee vice of heaxing poor, innocent, unsuspecting and rather stolid Jean Buil. We do not pretend to trace all the links of our story distinctly, but content ourselves with generalities. Suffice it to say, that about the time the Flying Scud, with her joilly captain, reached Liverpool, there sprung up an alarming story that the terrible clipper Grapeshot, whose mysterious departure from New York, when it was well known there were Rassian officers in New York negotiating for privateers had been noted in all the city papers, had announced her arrival by the capture of a French brig, almost within sight of the sacred shores of Great Britain. Of course such a report kindled the greatest alarm and excitement all along the coast. Armed ships were sent in every direction, to chase and capture the presumptuous pirate. It was seriously thought of to send off a special despatch to Charley Napier, for some of his fast steamers. At the last news the excitement still continued. There is no telling where or when it will end. In the meantime, the Grapeshot lies snugly enough at the Belize, looking as innocent and contented as a young girl on a May day, and her stalworth captain eats his gumbo and drinks his claret at the City Hotel, much more contentedly than Charley Napier on the Duke of Wellington, or Admiral Dundas before Odessa.

Slavery Now Existing in Nebraska.
[From the National Ra.]
In any ordinary case I should be very loth to exone a brother missionary; but the case now before is in one of so monstrous a character as to forbid anger silence.

las is one of so monstrons a character as volving the solution of the many not be generally known that there is in this Territory an extensive missionary establishment, under the direction and control of the Methodist Church South, at which slaves have long been kept to do the menial service of the mission. These slaves have been kept here in utter disregard of the Misseuri compromise, by which slavery was forever prohibited here.

It would seem, to a candid thinker, a difficult matter to conceive a grosser inconsistency than to

It would seem, to a candid thinker, a difficult matter to conceive a grosser inconsistency than to go forth to preach Christianity to the heathen, and to carry staves along to assist in the glorious work. Thus, while they would hold up the gospel to the heathen with one hand; with the other they bind fast the yoke of bondage on the neck of the poor slave. How can they show any consistency in such a monstrous absurdity? On what grounds should one portion of the human family be degraded and heathenized, to slevate and enlighten another?

But to come nearer to the point—Thomas Johnson, the superintendent of this slaveholding mission, by adroit management, was elected, last fail, a delegate to Congress from this Territory, or, rather, was sent to Washington to attend to matters pertaining to the various tribes of Indians here, preparatory to selling their lands and organizing a Territorial government. He has been at Washington during the present session of Congress, where he has been using all his influence to secure the passage of Douglas's Neuraska bill; and he has not scrupled to make unfair statements to promote his ends. He is using his a tmost endeavors to induce those Indians to sell out their lands entire—a thing which they are very unwilling to do, and which would be very disastrous to their best interests.

out her large entire—a thing which may are very unwilling to do, and which would be very disastrous to their best interests.

They have emigrated, to make room for the white man, until they can go no further. There are no lands suitable for them. Most of the vast region between this and the Rocky Mountains is a barren desert, and wholly unfit for cultivation. These radians are disposed to sell all the land they do not need; but they wish to be allowed to remain here in peace and quiet, for they know not where to go. But this Christian missionary would send them away, does he care whither? It is believed that he intends to secure to himself a fat portion of these poor Indians' lands. And he would plant slavery here; yes, has introduced it here, in violation of the laws of the land. And yet, we are to believe that he is a minister of the gospel of Christ.

Friends of Freedom! Help! If ye ever intend to aght for liberty, buckle on your armor, for the time is at hand.

The Emigration Movement to Nebraska and Emigration to Nebraska and Kansas is one of the great and vital topics of the day. We shall en-deavor to keep our readers perfectly posted upon the character and progress. The following, gleaned from various sources, will be perused with in-terest:

the character and progress. The following, gleaned from various sources, will be perused with interest:

The St. Joseph's (Missouri) Gazette learns that a memorial has already been forwarded to Wassington, asking of the government permission to establish a newspaper at Fort Leavenworth, the designated capital of the new Territory of Kansas. Fort Leavenworth is situated at the eastern boundary of Kansas, on the Missouri river, between latitude 39 and 40. It is a military reservation, and so under the centrol of the War Department. The memorial in question is signed by all the officers of the Fort, and many persons living on the Missouri river. The adjacent land, not covered by the military reserve, is Indian territory, and no white man can set let there without permission from the United States authorities—so that the government has complete control in the premises. It would be a capital site for a democratic journal, and we presume no other will be established there.

The Fremont County Journal, (Iowa) announces that many settlers are already crowding into Nebraska, in anticipation of the extinguishment of the Indian title.

It will be noticed that a member of the House from Miscouri has moved for the establishment of a land office in Kansas. This will meet the necessities of the great emigration to that country.

A company is said to be forming at Comberland, the extents of the Scheeke Territory. They

A company is said to be forming at Cumberland, Mid., to migrate to the Nebraska Territory. They design starting as soon as the number reaches twenty-five.

The Council Bluffs (Iown) Bugle of the 16th ult.

says:—That old veteran pioneer, Dr. M. H. Clark, has finally "put out" for Wood river, Nebraska, about 160 miles up the Platte, to establish an emigrant hospital and open a post office at that place. He took with him some twenty men, with tools, implements, seeds, and everything necessary for the formation of a new settlement; also about ten teams freighted with merchandise from Mitchell's. A smith shop is to be established for the convenience of emigrants, and every comfort will be afforded these who require their assistance. Hurrah for the pleneers of Nebraska. We wish them success.

A Good Example.—The police of New Orleans are regulating the draymen—requiring them to drive moderately, to preserve a distance of ten feet apart for the benefit of persons wishing to cross the streets, and not to drive faster than a walk when tuning a corner. Nearly every city has such a convenient regulation, except New York, where it probably is a great deal more needed. It is in every once's experience to have met a procession of drays or combutaces, the drays overlapped and the omnibuses close together, for the very purpose of preventing any passage between them which is likely in cause them to halt, while a crowd of pedestrians are stanoing waiting, no matter how urgent their business may be, till the slow procession has posed.

MONEY MARKET.

MONEY MARKET.

SURDAY, June 4—6 P. M.

The tendency of the stock market during the past week has been downward, and quotations current at the close yesterday, show a pretty general decline. The fluctuations lately have been to some extent, and both the bulls and bears have had, at times, a turn in their favor. The recent rise in Cumberland and Nicaregur, was not well managed on the part of holders. Prices were carried up too far and too fast, and the effect was to bring out a great deal of stock, which otherwise would have rested quietly in the hands of outsiders. There has been no change in the money market of a nature calculated to force stocks upon the market, and those who have realized have been induced to do so to secure a profit. In this they were wire, as the result has shown. The back returns last week were far from being satisfac-The bank returns last week were far from being satisfac-tory, which undoubtedly had a depressing influence, but had there been no great inflation in the fancles, we probably should not have seen any material variation in prices. The bank returns for this week, will, without doubt, be somewhat similar to those of last, in all the departments except specie, and in that we look for a falling off. The exports of specie have, within the past few days, been very heavy, and we see no probability of any let up. We shall not have another California steamer for a week or so, and in the meantime our supply must be sensibly dimished.

The amount of specie exported from this port last The amount of specie exported from this port last week was as annexed—

The exports of specie from Boston during the month of May amounted to $650,710, of which $609,769 was in gold, and $49,950 in silver. The imports in the same time were only $100 in silver.

Mr. A. H. Nicolay's regular auction sale of stocks and

Mr. A. H. Nicolay's regular auction sale of stocks and bonds will take place as usual on Monday, at the Mer-chants' Exchange, at half past twelve o'clock. It is an evil of magnitude that aggregations of capital for the construction of all great works of internal im-provement almost necessarily fall into hands incompe-tent, and eminently unfit to control them. The stock of such roads is generally taken at first by men of liberal tempers but scanty means, who, in conjunction with public subscriptions by cities and States, press on until their means are exhausted. The road almost finished is without value, wanting, perhaps, an additional capital of twenty per cent for its completion. It is at this states of its affair that the feature owners of the affair that the feature owners of the state of the st stage of its affairs that the future owners of the road are installed into power. The men who originated and carried the scheme almost through, see gen-erally forced to abandon their investments for a song; and moneyed men come in for the speculation.

As a general thing, those men are unfit for their position. Their money has been their only qualification. Their lives have been spent in sordid gains, and the established principle of their action is a further and a greater accumulation. In the hands of such men, enterprises founded in patriotism and based upon enlarged statesmanship, are priverted, and become instruments of public speculation and boundless peculation. Such has been the course of events in the history of many improvements in this State, and doubtless in other communities. Whether this has been the history of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad we do not pretend to know; but the com-parison we have frequently instituted between the operations of the Erio road and of that road disclose such curi-ous results that we lay the facts before the public in hopes of eliciting explanation. The following table pre-sents the comparative business resources of the two countably. In a single year its stock has been as high as 98, and fell to 42; within sixty days it has been over 70 and under 55; it now ranges about 60. It has been, and continues to be, the subject of stock gambling, and men in the management of its affairs are charged with participating in the game.

It is not alone in its great superiority in amount of trade and travel that the Eric road excels the Baltimore roas. When the comparison extends to the strature of the two roads, and the comparative cost of werking expenses, a lamentable contrast is presented.

The Eric road is 464 miles long, and has 180 miles of double track, besides eighty miles of sidings or turn-outs. The Baltimore road is 380 miles long, and (if we cours. The Baltimore road is 380 miles long, and (if we comprehend its tables) has forty-three miles of double track and sixty-nine miles of sidings. The Eric road has been graded to a maximum of sixty feet to the mile. For a distance of 309 miles it has no grade higher than five feet to the mile in the direction of the greatest trade.

The Faltimore road, on the other hand, encounters grades as high as 116 feet to the mile.

The curvatures on the Erio road are moderate, and sixty-four per cent of its whole distance is in straight lines. The radius of curves on the Baltimore road comes down as low as 600 feet, when we are told 1,000 feet is the minimum radius allowed on railroads for useful and safe operations. This great inferiority of structure tells fatally on the work, in expenses of the two roads. We shall not compare the working expenses, by resorting to the financial statements published by either road.

These statements are sometimes moulded to suit the stock market. We will simply compare the machinery of the two reads. On the Saltimore read, in 1853 there were 196 locomotives, most of them of the largest class. There were in all 3,484 cars. We under stand there are now 227 lecomotives on the road, and others are building. The Eric road in 1853 worked 150 locomotives, and half the number of cars. With this dimis ished power and cost, in consequence of its better passengers, and fifty per cent more tenage. (more than half the tonnage of the Ealtimore road being coal, and passing over half its length,) over an increased length of road. The actual cost of the two roads when the Baltimore road is perfected—its tunnels arched, its track doubled to Pledmont, and its motive power enlarged as new contemplated—netwithstanding the better construc-tion of the Eric road and its greater length, (eighty-feur miles,) will be very nearly the same. The cost of the Bultimore scad, when finished, i, set down at more than $26,000,000.

We are aware that this comparison will not be well re ceived in Raltimore; but even there it will do good. It will dispol delusive errors impressed for speculative views on public credulity. It may direct attention to the correction of the manifest blunders in the construction of their road.

The Miners' (Comsterland) Journal of the 2d inst., gives the annexed review of the coal trade for the week ending the 21sh of May :-

ending the 28th of May:—
Ituring the week 7,348.49 tons of coal passed over the Counter land Conspany's most, and 6,749 tons over the Mt. nazuge road.—making 14,088.49 tons from the Frostburg region for the week, and 106,562.03 tons for the peach. During the same time 5,848 tons passed over the Baltimere and Ohlo Railecod from the Westernport region, making 57,514.63 tons for the year from the active region. (Amount for the week 19,946.09 tons from the entire region. (Asgainst 18,888.0) tons the week previous.) of which 6,244.11 tons went to market by canal, and 13,701. It tons yealroad. Amount for the year from the entire region 164,969.18 tons, against 185,300, tons up to the same time of last year. Thus it will be seen that in two months of this year (april and May) the amount sent to market bearly equals the product of five months, of the last year.

same time of last year. Thus it will be seen that in two months of this year (april and May) the amon at sent to nariest nearly equals the product of five month, of the last year.

Vessels for freighting coal are still scarce at Baltimare. High rates consequently continue, as may be seen from the following quotations—To New York, $2.75 per ton; to Troy and Albany, $2.50 per ton; to Troy and Albany, $2.50 per ton; to New Haven, Norwing the following and Warrham, $3.50 to $3.75 per ton.

Point.

The Manass' a Gap Railroad Company have put under contract the line of their road from their depot at Jones' Point, ir Alexandria, to Gainesville, a distance of thirty-four ralles, and the Loudon branch road, which diverges at a point on the main stem of the Manassas Gap Railvald, 21 miles from Alexandria, and extends to Pursullville, a distance of twenty-seven miles, which is only sixteen miles from Harper's Ferry. This link will put alexandria in immediate connection with Wheeling, and with the Winchester and Potomae road, which is thirty-twe miles in length, making the distance from Alexandria to Winchester, by railroad, ninety-six miles. The country through which these roads are to run is said to be exceedingly favorable for their construction with easy grades. The grade going east from Pursellville to Alexandria does not exceed twenty feet to the mile, and the highest grade between that point and Harper's Ferry. highest grade between that point and Harper's Forry going east, is twenty-six feet to the mile, according to going east, is twenty in the route.
